

FARSHORE AND HARPER COLLINS RESEARCH TRIAL

We are extremely excited to announce that Holmer Green Senior School has been selected to take part in the Farshore and Harper Collins research trial in collaboration with the School Library Association.

This is an exciting opportunity which explores the extent to which social reading environments impact on students' enjoyment of reading and motivation to read independently. Schools selected to take part in the trial will receive the following research incentives:

200 free children's books from Farshore Books, HarperCollins Children's Books and Barrington Stoke, worth approximately £1,700

A £100 Amazon voucher to spend on accessories for our 'social reading space' in the school library

A personalised letter from a well-known children's author every week.

The trial involves running weekly book group discussions in the school library with small groups of reluctant readers (children who can read but choose not to) in Year 8 from the October half term, to February half term.
